Privacy Policy

This privacy statement explains how we collect, use, and safeguard information about visitors to our site and our newsletter subscribers. If you are, or if you become a client of Mannion Prior, LLP, we may use information about you in additional ways. Full details may be obtained by emailing info@mannionprior.com.

We take reasonable measures to protect and safeguard the personal information of users of this site and other social media sites we may offer. By using this site and by submitting personal information to us via this site, you consent (A) to our collection and use of your personal information for the purposes described in this privacy statement and (B) that all information you submit to the site may be transferred to, processed, and stored in the United States.

Information We Collect

Our site typically collects personally identifiable information when you voluntarily submit it through our site. For example, you may submit your name and email address to subscribe to a newsletter. We may also collect information such as source, browser, device type, operating system and similar information that is not personally identifiable to help us analyze how the site is used, traffic patterns, and browsing history or other information to help us develop the site and improve your experience on our site. We do not combine IP addresses with personally-identifiable information to identify individual users.

How We Use and Share Your Information

When you submit your personal information to us through the site, we will use it for the purposes for which you provided it (e.g., to submit a request). Of course, in the unlikely event of a change in control

(e.g., resulting from a merger with another entity), we may transfer your information to the other party. We do not otherwise disclose your personal information to third parties.

We are not responsible for the data collection, privacy practices or policies of any third-party site to which we may provide a link or that may link to our site. We encourage you to read the privacy statement and terms of use of other sites.

Children

We do not knowingly solicit personal or other information online from children under the age of 13.

Information Security

We use commercially reasonable security measures to protect against unauthorized access to or unauthorized alteration, disclosure or destruction of information stored on our servers. Of course, no computer network or data transmission on the internet can be guaranteed to be 100% secure and so you submit your information at your own risk.

Contact Form Disclaimer

The use of the Internet or this form as means of contacting this firm or any individual attorney of this firm will not establish an attorney-client relationship; thus, do not use this form to submit confidential or time-sensitive information. Whether you are a new or existing client of this firm, Mannion Prior, LLP cannot represent you on any new matter until the firm has resolved any and all potential conflicts of interest that may be related to your representation and has agreed to be engaged as your legal counsel. Unless and until Mannion Prior, LLP has informed you it is willing and able to accept your new matter, do not send the firm any information or documents that you consider private or confidential.
